

Topic 07: Compare Vietnamese dining culture with other countries.

When it comes to cuisines around the world, Viet Nam is always a name that cannot be ignored. The country has a rich and diverse cuisine from different regions.

With a long history of formation and development, from everyday dishes such as shrimp paste, braised fish, braised meat, or even vegetable dishes, from everyday dishes such as “Mắm tôm”, braised fish, braised meat, or even vegetable dishes, or street side dishes like “Phở”, “Bún Chả”, “Bánh mỳ” ... and much more, beside there are traditional dishes such as Trung cake, Tet cake, sausage, “Mứt” .... It's very difficult to list all Viet Nam dishes, so we can see that Viet Nam is a country with an extremely rich cuisine.

Different from other countries, here, street side dishes culture is very developed and very delicious, every visitor come to Viet Nam is impressed with the street food around here. Thai Lan also has a vibrant street food culture, but the dishes are often more spicy and diverser.